The Wimbledon Championships

Wimbledon is the world’s oldest tennis tournament. It has been held at the All England Club in Wimbledon, London since 1877. It is one of the four Grand Slam tennis tournaments (majors), the others being the Australian Open, the French Open and the US Open.

Events
Wimbledon is made up of five main events and five junior events. There are also five invitation events where some former professionals are invited back to compete. The five main events are gentlemen’s singles, ladies’ singles, gentlemen’s doubles, ladies’ doubles and mixed doubles.

Schedule
Currently, Wimbledon begins in June and ends in July. In 2017, the championships will begin and end in July, making the gap between the tournament and the French Open a little longer. Usually, there is no play on the ‘Middle Sunday’ however rain has sometimes forced play on this day.

The Courts
In 2009, Wimbledon’s Centre Court was fitted with a moving roof which can be automatically closed over the court to reduce the loss of playing time. The main show courts, Centre Court and No. 1 Court, are normally used for only two weeks a year during the championships, but play can go into a third week if there has been lots of rain. The other 17 courts are used for other events hosted by the club.

Trophies and Prize Money
The gentlemen’s singles champion receives a silver gilt cup which has been awarded since 1887. The women’s singles champion wins a sterling silver salver.

A Few Famous Champions
Serena Williams, and her sister Venus, have each won Wimbledon more than once. Roger Federer won the men’s singles title five times in a row between 2003 and 2007. In 2012, Federer beat Andy Murray in the final but Murray came back the following year to win, making him the first British man in 77 years to take the title.

The Wimbledon Championships

Wimbledon is the world’s oldest tennis tournament and is also thought to be the most prestigious. It has been held at the All England Club in Wimbledon, London since 1877. It is one of the four Grand Slam tennis tournaments (majors), the others being the Australian Open, the French Open and the US Open. Wimbledon is the only major still played on traditional grass, the game’s original surface, which gave the game its original name of ‘lawn tennis’.

Events

Wimbledon consists of five main events and five junior events. There are also five invitation events where some former professionals are invited back to compete. The five main events are gentlemen’s singles, ladies’ singles, gentlemen’s doubles, ladies’ doubles and mixed doubles.

Tickets

The majority of Centre Court tickets are made available through a public ballot in which applicants are chosen at random by a computer. Fans without tickets can queue up overnight to get seats on match day. There are a certain number of seats allocated for the queuing system.

Schedule

Currently, Wimbledon begins in June and ends in July. In 2017, the championships will begin and end in July, extending the gap between the tournament and the French Open. The five main events span both weeks, but the junior and invitational events are mainly held during the second week. Traditionally, there is no play on the ‘Middle Sunday’ however rain has sometimes forced play on this day.

The Courts

In 2009, Wimbledon’s Centre Court was fitted with a moving roof which can be automatically closed over the court to reduce the loss of playing time. The principal court, Centre Court, was opened in 1922. The main show courts, Centre Court and No. 1 Court, are normally used for only two weeks a year during the championships, but play can extend into a third week if there have been high levels of rain. The other 17 courts are regularly used for other events hosted by the club.
