Following the start of our Reading Olympics at Fairfield, we would like to create images of children and adults reading in extreme places, which can be displayed around the school. This is to encourage children to read, no matter where they are!

Please encourage your child to read in an extreme (exciting) place and then take a photograph of your child reading in their extreme place and send it to school. You can either send in the photograph, or email it to:

extremeread@fairfd.leics.sch.uk

Every child who sends in an extreme reading photo, will be able to select a bookmark to take home as a reward for reading in an extreme place. The 3 favourite extreme photos 1 x infant pupil, 1 x junior pupil & 1 x adult chosen by the School Council will each win a £5 WHS book voucher.

If you send in a photo, you are giving permission for us to use the photographs in school and for media purposes – such as the school website.

Please send in your photographs by Friday 27th October and enjoy reading over the half term. Have a look at the ideas below to inspire you.................Parents and staff can join in too!
