Phoneme Spotter Story

Shaun had a cat called Chalky who he loved very much. He had looked after her almost since she was born. Chalky was black with four white dots like smudges of chalk on each paw. She miaowed to him each morning after a big yawn. Shaun liked to think he had almost taught her to talk!

Chalky was smart though, she could open a door with her paw. Sometimes she was naughty and caught a bird. Shaun would shout at her and she would drop the bird from her jaw onto the lawn.
