There has been a lot of talk of bubbles recently especially at school as the children who have returned are not in their usual classes but in smaller groups, sometimes called bubbles. We have been having fun with bubbles at school!

So today you are going to watch a little story called bubbles. It has no words with it so you have to use the pictures to understand what is going on.

Please watch the video and then complete the questions below. Remember to write full sentences to answer the questions if you can! If not, then write some of the answers and discuss the others with your family.
