Cerys sat in the kitchen on Friday morning and stared out of the window. The winter sun stared back at her and warmed her cheeks. But this didn’t make Cerys feel happy.

It was a frosty December morning and she had been waiting for a long, long time.

It didn’t come every year, but it was supposed to come this year.

She had her sledge, hat and gloves ready. But she was getting impatient.

Still the snow hadn’t come. Where was it?

“Staring out of the window won’t make it snow any quicker. I’m sure it will be here soon. Don’t worry,” Mum said patiently.

“It’s taking ages!” Cerys snapped back. “I just want to go sledging. And I want to build a snowman with Harvey from next door.”

Cerys peeped out of her bedroom window which was frosted with snowflakes. The garden was carpeted with snow and all of the cars on the road were covered in a thick blanket of snow. Just the right amount for making snowballs to throw at Harvey, she thought.

She spotted Harvey heading towards the house and quickly dressed in her warmest clothes.

It had all been worth the wait. It was Saturday and that meant hours and hours of fun outside!

4 In the morning, everything looked different outside. Draw three lines to show what had happened overnight.

- window
- garden
