Thank you for your lovely comments and responses on class dojo about our Nativity play that we performed this week. We’re really pleased that you enjoyed the performances. The children worked so hard learning the words to the carols and practising their dance moves. It has been lovely seeing the children choosing to sing some of these carols in their own free time as well as during performing an impromptu carol concert during our RE lesson this week!

Our ‘Dough Disco’ this week has been Kylie Christmas-ified with lots of festive hits for the children to move their fingers and dough to. If you are wondering about ideas for stocking fillers this Christmas I would recommend a tub of playdough. Playdough is a great resource for helping children to develop their fine motor skills, which in turn helps their writing. The muscles in your fingers are some of the very last muscles in your body to develop, so an activity which boosts muscle development here is really beneficial for children.

Playdough is also a great tool for developing creativity as children can just design and build different things with it.

On Monday we shall be visiting De Montfort Hall to see ‘Aladdin.’ We shall then be having sausages and chips for our lunch when we return. Don’t forget that Wednesday evening is the Christmas Disco. If you wish your child to attend make sure that you return the reply slip that was on the disco letter, and pay via the usual school money payment option.

Star Of The Week

Everybody for trying your very best in our Nativity play this week.
Well done!

During the last term some of Year 1 have been attending the Mini Professors Science Club after school on a Monday night. It has been really lovely hearing about all of the different things that they have been getting up to and seeing them getting really excited about science. If you want your child to join in with the Mini Professors after the Christmas holiday please can you return the permission slip from the letter you had on Monday. This needs to be returned by next Monday (16th December).
