Welcome back!

Welcome to the first newsletter of the academic year. We have decided to separate news into two different newsletters. This one, which will focus on the children and pastoral issues, and another (sadly less interesting) which will contain important announcements and reminders for parents and carers.

It is wonderful to see everyone back at school and ready to start the new academic year. I am particularly glad to be back after a lengthy absence and I am very excited about continuing to move the school forward with your support and the support of the staff and governors.

It is so great to see the fantastic work the children are already producing and how quickly they have settled back into school life. I hope you enjoy reading it and please remember that my door is always open. Mr Ellis.

Year 1 have already been producing some fantastic writing. 1K have been writing apology letters as if they were greedy snakes.

1R used their phonics to write about all of the things they could see around them.

Year 2 are doing cross curricular writing this week. They have been using their history skills to research the Great Fire of London and with all they have learned, they are now drawing, acting and planning before writing their own diary about what happened.

Year 3 were caught up in the action when it came to acting out their writing. They have been reading extracts from the book ‘Iron Man’ and next week plan to write their own versions of the story. They certainly looked like they were having fun!
