Reading (30 mins): Choose a fiction book to have as your reading focus this week. I have chosen Harry Potter and the Goblet of Fire (my favourite in the series!). Answer these questions:

Focus on one page of your book today.

1. Sum up each paragraph on this page, only using 8 words at most for each one.
2. What is the most important point in each paragraph?
3. Give each paragraph a sub-heading.

Writing (1 hour): On Friday, you will be writing a story based on the adventures of your animal, including within the setting you described! Today, your task is to create a story mountain for it. Remember, this is only your plan so it can be in note form – you are NOT writing the story today!

When you write your story, I would like you to include at least six examples of punctuation for parenthesis (remember, these can be pairs of brackets, commas or dashes to add extra information). I would also like you to include: direct speech, relative clauses and fronted adverbials.
Maths (1 hour, 15 mins)

CLICK: 364 X 78

LO: to convert mixed fractions into improper numbers.

WARNING: THIS IS A NEW TOPIC WITHIN FRACTIONS, SO WE WILL FOCUS ON IT THROUGHOUT THE WEEK!

This video will explain the maths behind them:

Have a go at these:

1 2/3 3 1/2 5 3/4 4 2/4 6 2/5
3 2/6 5 4/7 6 7/8 8 2/9

Deeper Thinking

Three children have incorrectly converted 3 2/5 into an improper fraction.

Annie:

3 2/5 = 6/15

Mo:

3 2/5 = 15/5

Dexter:

3 2/5 = 32/5

What mistake has each child made?

Computing (1-2 hours)

Research different Mayan gods and goddesses. Create a double-page spread all about them – I’d love to see the finished pieces!
