Mr Hadlow’s Daily Messages Week Commencing Monday 20 April

Friday 24 April

Hi Lynx,

Thanks again for all your lovely messages and photos of what you’ve been up to yesterday! I can’t believe it’s Friday again today! Another week has flown by and at the moment I always have to check what day it is, as every day seems the same! I hope you saw my little hello video to you yesterday!

Don’t forget to send in your Quarantine Questions to me. Remember you can ask me anything about my time being stuck at home and all the lower school teachers will put it all together in a short video for you to watch! Could be funny!! Examples of questions are on our class page. Let’s see how many questions you can think of?!

Also, like I said in my video, Mr Leone will be hosting a virtual disco, where you can login and join in with some crazy singing and dancing! In preparation for that, can you email me any requests and ‘shout outs’ for this!

Thanks Lynx, have a great day and speak to you all again soon!

Wednesday 22 April

Morning Lynx,

How are you on this lovely sunny Wednesday morning? The weather has been amazing hasn’t it! I went for a run yesterday and then did lots in the garden, in between homeschooling and reading all your lovely messages.

I’ve added some more to the website this morning and look forward to receiving more messages from you later! Don’t forget that there is plenty of work for you have a go on the website and to keep up your TTRockstars and daily reading!

Take care and see you soon.

Tuesday 21 April

Morning Lynx,

Thanks so much for all of you managed to attempt some of the work from yesterday and to those of you who sent pictures of you doing lots of other exciting stuff!

Thanks especially to Oscar A who sent pictures of him coding, also Flora who completed a reading marathon in her ‘secret hideaway’! Well done to Noah who has been working very hard and to Seth who has built a very cool den with his brother Rowan! Keep the pictures and work coming guys, it’s been brilliant to hear from you and see what you’ve been up to!

I’ve added a few new bits to our class page so make sure you give some of it a go today! I’m going to start the day with Joe Wicks again! Molly and I haven’t missed one yet, which is an achievement in itself.

Have a good day and stay safe, Mr H

Monday 20 April

Hi Lynx,
Hope you and your families are all keeping well? It's been yet another lovely sunny weekend and it looks like most of this week is looking the same too! Try and get outside someone safe for some fresh air if you can!

For those of you who looked on our class page last week, we have set lots of new work which you can do as and when you can. We've tried to give you a real mixture of subjects and activities which I've also copied the link below:

It has been great to hear from you over the weekend, particularly Holly, Tilly, Maxim, Darcey and Lottie. Your work, photos, cooking and projects all look fantastic, so very well done. If you've not managed to message me yet, try and aim to do that this week, sending me more of your excellent work.

It's been great hearing from you and I do miss you all loads, so keep in touch.

Take care, Mr H
